A screenshot of the ClickView login interface. At the top center is the ClickView logo, which consists of an orange play button icon followed by the text "ClickView" in a dark blue font. Below the logo is the instruction "Sign in with your username or email address" in a smaller, grey font. Underneath this is a white input field with a light grey border and rounded corners, containing the placeholder text "Username or email address". Below the input field is a dark blue button with rounded corners and the word "Continue" in white text.
